A TALE OF HARD LUCK

VICTORIA, April 30.—Sealing schooner Geneva, which had such a trying voyage to Honolulu, where she put in leaking and distressed, returned to port last night after one of the most unprofitable voyages which any sealer has made. She left here on January 10 on a sealing cruise to the Japan Coast in charge of Capt. D. L. Jones, but the voyage was an ill-starred one, and she put into Honolulu five weeks out with her main boom broken and water pouring into her hold. Seven of her crew stole a boat and deserted, rather than remain in her. She was condemned as unseaworthy by a board of survey at Honolulu, and then Capt. Grant, manager of the Sealing Company, went to the Islands, and had her hauled out and repaired at a cost of $4,000, and she left Honolulu for this port on the 6th. After a passage of 22 days from the Islands, she dropped anchor in James Bay last night. Her crew were sent north by a crew of Japanese and Kinakas.

is based on the principle, "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Herpicide kills the germs that cause dandruff by digging up the scalp as they burrow their pestiferous way to the hair root, where they finally destroy the hair. Without dandruff your hair will grow luxuriantly.

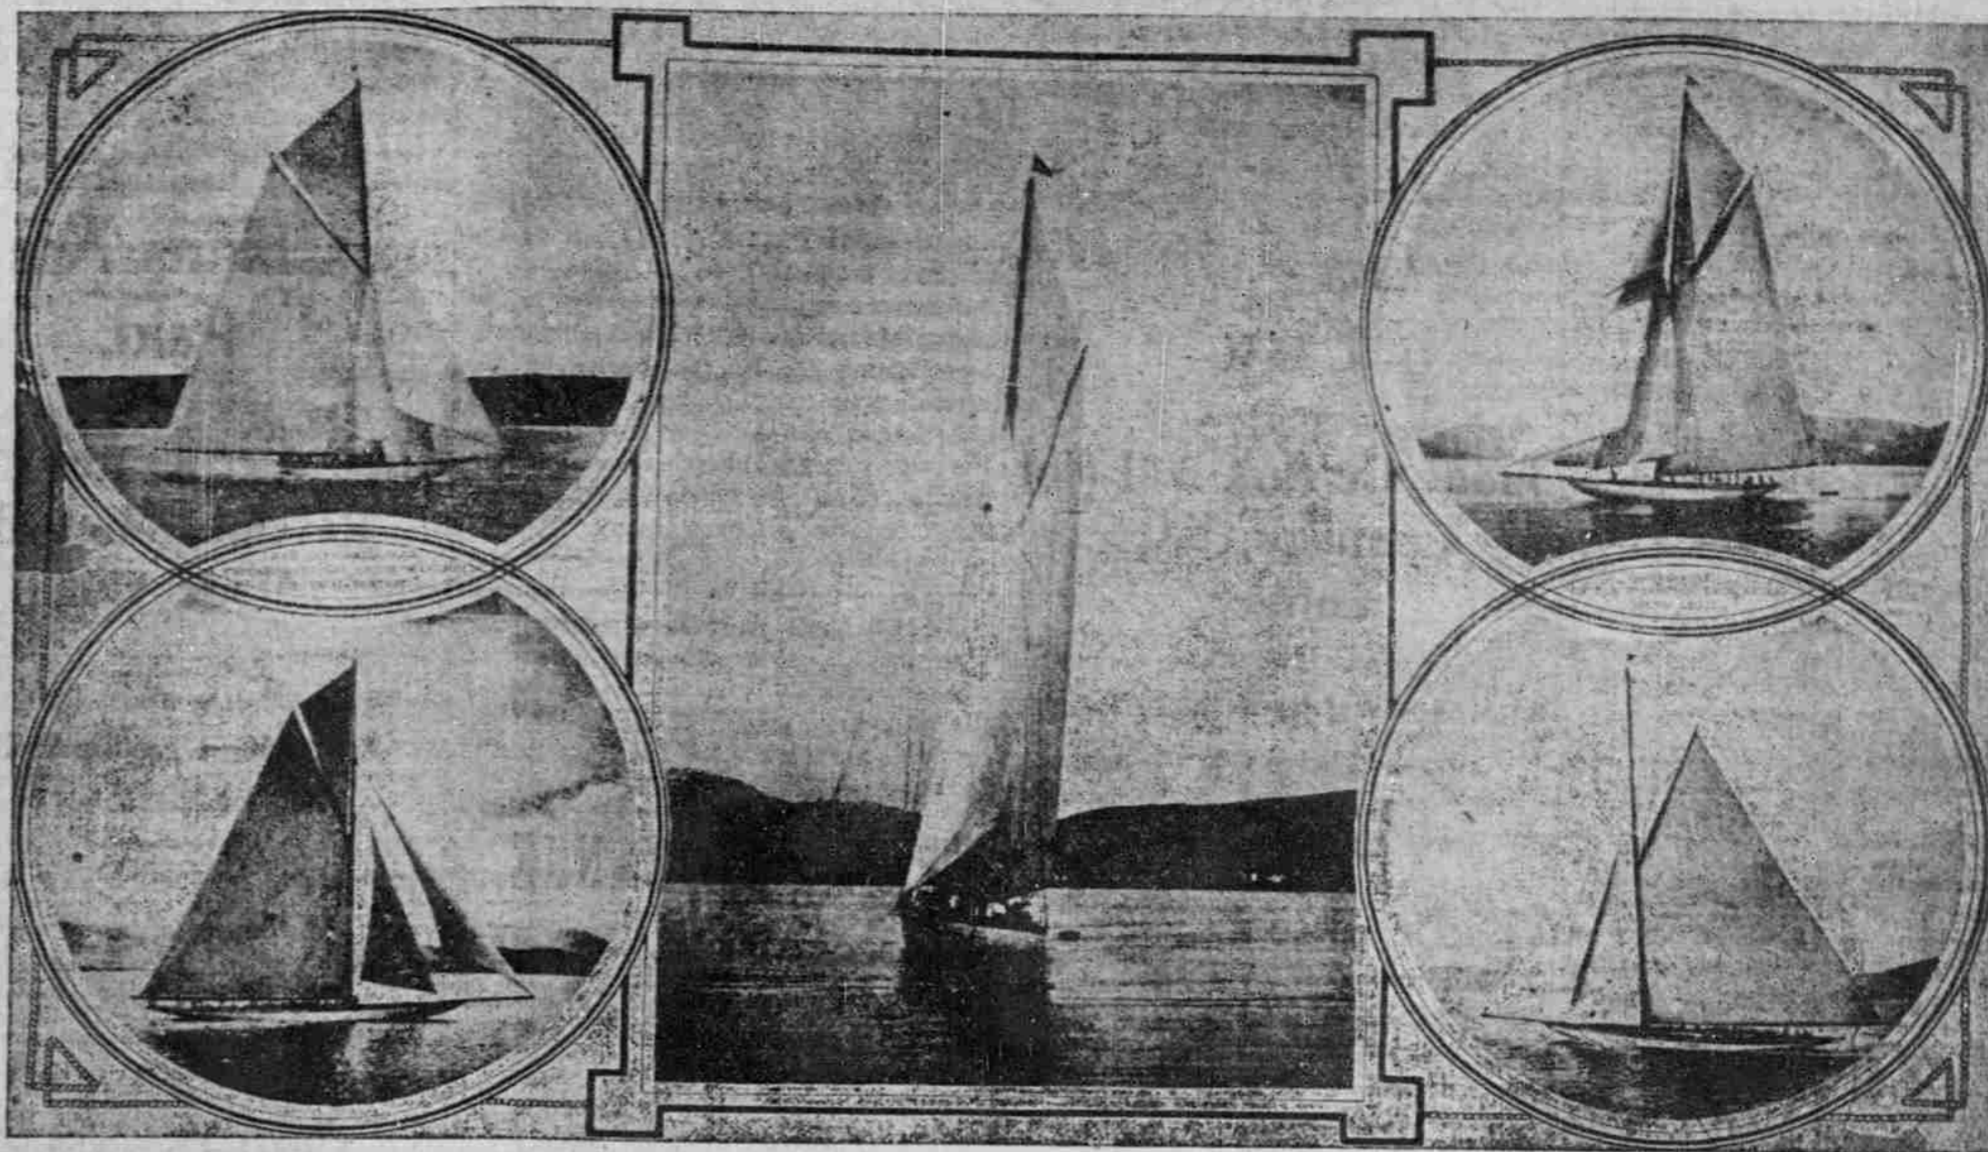

Newbro's Herpicide

stops dandruff and falling hair, and starts hair growing within 10 days. One bottle will convince you of this.

WAS FLORENCE IN COLLISION?

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Was the overdue French bark Couedic in collision with the American ship Florence and did both vessels sink in mid-ocean? That is the question which is just now puzzling the underwriters. Both ships are missing, the Florence being given up for lost, while 85 per cent. is being paid to reinsure the chances of the Du Couedic, which is also given up as lost.

The Florence sailed from Tacoma for Honolulu on December 1 last, while the Du Couedic sailed from San Francisco for Sydney, N. S. W., on December 24 with a cargo of wheat for J. J. Moore & Co. Wreckage from a ship supposed to be the Florence was sighted in latitude 24 N, longitude 123 W.

This was several months ago, and about that time the Florence and Du Couedic must have been in company. Heavy southwesterly weather prevailed at the time and the supposition among shipping men is that the Florence and Du Couedic collided and went down with all on board.

The Du Couedic was laden with wheat, valued at over $100,000, while the Florence had a cargo of Roslyn coal for one of the sugar refineries. Both vessels being heavily laden, the shock must have been terrific if they came together.

The Florence being now out 141 days from the sound and the Du Couedic 119 from San Francisco, lends an air of probability to the supposition that the two vessels were in collision.

YOUNG'S ISLAND IS AN ORPHAN

The Organic act specifically designates that the site for the $30,000 U. S. Immigration station, for the establishment of which U. S. Immigration Commissioner Sargent is now in Honolulu, shall be "on land adjacent to the Channel Wharf." The "land adjacent" is the Naval Reservation which extends seaward from behind the Channel Wharf and Myrtle Boat house. Young's island does not properly come under the term "adjacent," and it will probably be abandoned for some time.

Doric on the Way.

The Pacific Mail steamship Korea will sail from Hongkong tomorrow for Yokohama, Honolulu and San Francisco. She is due to sail from Yokohama on May 23 arriving here June 1.

The Japanese Army.

According to the Asahi of Japan, the standing army of Japan at the end of 1902 had 105 generals, 799 staff officers, and 5,749 subalterns, a total of 6,553 officers, which represents an increase of ten generals, four staff officers, and 566 subalterns, or 580 officers, as compared with the number at the end of 1901. This is rapid increase, but it is said that it does not meet the increase which was decided upon after the war with China, and which has been provided for in great part.

PAKA PIO GAMBLING PAYS; TONG KAI IN POLICE COURT

The expose of the attempt of the Chinese gamblers on Sunday to bribe the Attorney-General's Department to prevent any of their number from being convicted in the upper courts startled Honolulu yesterday morning. The expose was complete and the methods of the bribers were laid bare to the community.

One thing was brought to light. This was the magnitude of the revenues received from the gambling tables of the Orientals from Paka pio alone. That a few hui of gamblers could afford to settle the sum of $6,000 per month upon an official of their choice, just to eliminate prosecution in the upper courts, seemed incredible. But when it is taken into consideration that ninety-nine out of every hundred Chinamen are practically born gamblers and that the majority of them will risk their money daily in tempting fortunes, no matter how often they may lose, some idea can be gained of the enormous profits in the business. The four hui which were in the league to bribe the Attorney-General's department had a membership of about one hundred men, and these hui employ about 300 Chinese to distribute the lottery tickets daily. It is a small army in itself, and the receipts must necessarily be enormous to cover the expenses.

Tong Kai, the Chinaman who was arrested in the Attorney-General's office Sunday afternoon after offering to bribe Deputy Attorney-General Peters for $1500 per week, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of violating section 25 of the Penal Laws of 1897, which reads as follows:

Whoever corruptly gives or promises to any executive, legislative or judicial officer, or to any master in chancery, juror, appraiser, referee, arbitrator or umpire, any gift, gratuity, service or benefit, with intent to influence his vote, judgment, opinion, decision or other acts as such in any case, question, proceeding or matter pending, or that may by law come or be brought before him in his capacity as aforesaid, shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor not more than two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

On motion of his attorney, F. M. Brooks, the case was continued until tomorrow morning.

Former Deputy Attorney-General Cathcart is quoted in the Star as saying:

The way in which the proposition is stated seems to be an insinuation that there was a fund used under the former administration of the department. As a matter of fact gambling cases never got to the upper office at all. The new situation, which made it necessary for the Chinese to fix the upper office, developed when Attorney-General Andrews took hold of the gambling proposition personally.

Mr. Cathcart says that in quoting him in yesterday's Star, his remarks might be construed so as to reflect on the police department. Nothing was further from his thoughts. What he intended to convey was that as the enforcement of the laws against gambling, as well as all other laws, was left with the police, there was no reason to approach the Attorney-General's office, and so any insinuation against that office was easily disposed of.

Paka pio is a lottery played with red tickets generally on which are marked eighty Chinese characters. The player is permitted to mark a certain number to the characters, and his chances for making a winning lie in his drawing at least five of the numbers to agree with the numbers punched out by the bank in its drawing. For a ten-cent ticket gets fifteen cents if he hits upon five numbers out of the twenty. If the player makes six correct guesses he gets $1.50; for seven, $15; for eight, $30; for nine, $150; for ten, $300. This is on the basis of a ten-cent ticket. He can pay more if he chooses, up to eighty cents and the winnings are based on the cost.

Attorney-General Andrews stated yesterday that it was his intention to prosecute the case vigorously.

JESSIE NORTON GREETED.

Flowers and Applause Bestowed on Favorite Actress.

The return of Jessie Norton to Honolulu was marked with a crowded house last evening at the Orpheum, when all her friends, or at least all of them who could obtain seats in the packed house, turned out to greet her reappearance with flowers and frequent applause.

In "Lost In New York," Miss Norton had a congenial role as the waif who turns out to be an heiress, and she invested the role with all the liveliness and spontaneity which had made her the favorite she is. Her acting is forceful but filled with a naturalness that soon gains the complete sympathy of the audience. Her singing is a big feature of the performances. Last night she introduced "Under the Bamboo Tree," a ditty which called out two encores.

The play is full of lively incident of plot and counter plot with special scenery, including the arrival of a river steamer. The roles are well cast, Lillian Elliott, Lando, Edler and Somo being particularly good. The climaxes, somewhat sensational, brought rounds of applause and the comedy decidedly caught on. The bill will be repeated tonight. Tomorrow Denman Thompson's "Joshua Whitcomb," a corollary of the "Old Homestead," continuing further adventures of most of the characters will be presented.
